

Photographer Rises to the Occasion, Takes Condom Challenge Head Shots

BY Steve Law

on 31 December 2015

282 Shares

Commercial photographer and digital artist Andreas Varro is making a name for himself with a humorous photo project that adapts the viral condom challenge.

"It's a challenge where you're supposed to drop a condom filled with water on people's head and make it stay there...I decided to do a humor art project based on this challenge."

Varro used a Nikon D810 and 50mm 1.8 lens at f11, ISO 100, and 1/125 s. For lighting, a broncolor 1200 move pack with one big 120 octabox in front from 45/45 degrees and one small rim light from the back was used.

IT'S VARRO
ITSVARRO.COM

Varro tells us that some of the images were composited. If the first condom drop was unsuccessful, Varro would reshoot it but keep the dry shirt from the initial take for intended effect; however, he chose not to composite all the photos for added variation.

IT'S VARRO
ITSVARRO.COM

"Humor and art have always been a thing for me, trying to combine these to grab people's attention and making them laugh is what makes me love my job."

IT'S VARRO
ITSVARRO.COM

Check out more of Andreas Varro's condom challenge photography here and follow him on instagram and Behance to see his other work!

Images used with permission.

- Share

New Bokeh articles delivered to your inbox every morning.